A Loving friendship and Mysterious love

My first fanfiction so awesome big fan of sonic and stuff. Night the shadow knight griffin belongs to me all sonic characters belong to sega. Never done a story for everyone to read and stuff, but hope everyone likes it. If not then who cares just want some people to read it that all. This is a sonamy story with mysterious love and lots of happy friendship even other couples pairing. The story is a bit like 'How To Train Your Dragon,' love that movie a lot. Hope u all love it.

Chapter 1. The Monster

It was a nice day to go for a walk at night. A sir-ten pink hedgehog walking around the woods. The night was so prefect and so lovely. The full moon was so pretty and bright, the warm night wind was so fresh, and the stars were so bright you can make wish on anyone. The pink hedgehog was named Amy Rose. She was walking around the woods at night which was not safe for a young women to wonder around. There could be anyone that could hurt her, take her away, and there was also a saying that a monster live deep in those woods, that people never enter in those creepy woods.

They were scared of the monster the most. Amy heard stories of the monster that lived deep in Merica's woods. Some mobians say that they saw the creature, but some could not see what it looked like. A few weeks ago a mobian tiger came out of the woods scared and a bit beat up. His eyes were filled with fear and he was covered with blood. The king of Merica Rod'O the hedge was concerned of the young man how scared he was and how terrified he must have been. The tiger said he saw the monster up close and had yellow eyes, big wings, and look to be a demon. He told Rod'O the whole story how he was just walking in the woods and saw the creature coming out of nowhere. The tiger said he fought the monster with his sword, but said that he only got it wing and it ran off deeper in the woods with a loud screech and told the king to never let anyone go in there alone. Rod'O was a bit worried but shook it off. He didn't want to believe in some nonsense that was going to scare everyone in the kingdom.

He had to focus on the important things like his kingdom, his family, and his young cousin Amy. Amy was the only cousin Rod'O had ever since Amy lost both her parents from a bunch of bandits. They protected her with all their life and she was so young that day. She even witnessed the whole thing, which scarred her for life. Seeing them died in front of her. But Amy did the only thing to get over the deaths of her parents was walking in the Merica's woods. She didn't even care if there was some monster living in the woods and how every mobian told her not to go in there alone, even her cousin told her not to go in there as well. Amy didn't even listen to a make up story that was told to scare little kids.

Amy only wanted was a nice walk around the woods. After walking around the woods for two hours, it was getting late and Amy needed to get home soon or she will get lost. Amy was now getting worried that she went too far in the woods and couldn't find her way out. When Amy came near a cove with a big beautiful lake. It was so pretty. The moon light reflection on the lake's surface, nice pretty flowers, big waterfall, and a small little island in the middle of the lake. When loud screeches were heard near the small island, which scared Amy to death. Amy hid behind a large tree and looked to see what made that loud noise.

Looking around the cove where the lake stood a big black creature with wings came out from the small island. The creature started to spread its wings and fly off the island to the other side of the lake. Once it started to fly it looked like it had some trouble flying. The left wing looked the most like it was broken or something. The creature was flying a bit off and when it landed, it landed real hard on the ground. The creature was now in the moon light which everyone can see what it really looked like. It was not a monster, it was a black griffin a mythical creature that is lion and eagle mix together. Amy watched the griffin get up from the ground. Feeling sorry for it and how it was flying at all. She could tell it couldn't fly well. The griffin getting up from its fall it had a minute ago started to sense that it was not alone and started to look for who it was. Amy had a bad feeling that the black griffin knew she was here.

So how you guys like it so far. I get to the next chapters soon sonic will be in the next chapter so don't get mad let hope Amy doesn't get killed or eaten alive.

2. Chapter 2

We left off when Amy discover the monster and which turn out to be a mythical creature which is a rare black griffin and which seem it cant fly real well (authors thought: fyi if us guys dont know wat a griffin is go on google and see wat it looks like you'll know) and wat seems tht the griffin knows Amy was watching him from the cove and Amy having a bad feeling it knew she was there. So lets read wat happens.

Chapter 2. A Strange Bond

Amy watched the black griffin behind the large tree hoping it didn't see her. The black griffin new it was not alone. It can smell Amy sweet scent anywhere. Looking up where a large tree was Amy who was hiding but fail at it. She was not good to hide since she was a pink hedgehog and didn't go well for camouflage in the dark. Amy looked at the griffin and the griffin looked at Amy. Watching each other made a strange wavelength that they could not understand. Amy got up and sat on her knees next to the edge of the cove's cliff. The black griffin took a few steps and stopped right close to a big rock, watching her every movements. Amy was getting creep out, just by watching this amazing creature looking at her with yellow eyes that sent chills down her spine.

Amy had enough of watching the griffin. Getting up from the spot she was sitting and looking down at the cove where a beautiful lake stand, when all of a sudden the edge of the cliff where Amy was standing just broke off which scared Amy to death. Falling of the cliff, Amy tried to grabbed onto something quit before she could hit the ground. Luck on was on her side, a tree root was hang on the side of the rock and let Amy grad it on time on. Sighting in relief Amy was safe for now. Looking down from from where she was hanging she saw the thing she wish was not there.

The black griffin watch Amy fall from the edge of the cliff and now hanging from a tree root which caught it off guard. "God help me please," Amy said praying for help to come soon. But help was not coming her way. Struggling to climb back up from the tree root back up the cliff where she was earlier was not easy. `I can make it, I can make it,` Amy though in her head. Reaching for other tree roots with her white gloves to get to the next oneto get back on the ledge. When she reached for a final tree root it broke off make Amy fall once again. Trying to grab on the same tree roots she used to climb up were not helping her grab on. They all broke or snapped off when she grab everyone of them, but final she grabbed one that helped her from falling to her death. Holding on to a tree root again and hoping it won't ripe again, but it snapped again and making Amy fall once again. Amy fell on the ground making her knock out on conscious.

It was now 5 o'clock in the morning and Amy lying on the ground unconscious. The black griffin watch Amy lying on the ground all night. It went to see if Amy was still breathing. Lucky she was breathing, the griffin can sense Amy was still alive. The griffin waited for Amy to wake up. Watching her was a bit boring, so the griffin deiced to take a nap on a big rock and wait for Amy to wake. An hour had pass and the black griffin was sleeping when it heard a few moans coming from a pink hedgehog. "Where am I, whoa my head hurts real bad," said Amy. Looking around where she was and looking up in the sky. It was already morning and the sun was coming out soon. "Damn it, its really late I knew I should have gone home instead wondering around the woods," getting mad and yelling out loud was making Amy real mad. "RRAAU" a loud roar came real close to Amy where she was lying all night. Amy shriek and looking around for what made that loud roar.

Turning her head to her right side she saw the black griffin watching her real close from the big rock it was napping earlier. The griffin got off the rock and started to walk towards Amy. Amy was really scared now. Crawling backwards and looking at the black griffin that was coming real close. Amy didn't want to get killed from creepy mythical creature, when Amy back was met with a rock wall. "Oh crap. I'm dead," said a worry pink hedgehog. Amy jade eyes were filled with fear looking at the griffin's yellow eyes. Closing her eyes and waiting for the griffin to kill her soon, but then felt something rubbing against her face and heard someone purring noise next to her.

Opening her eyes to see the griffin rubbing its big head on Amy's face. "What the?" Amy said in a confuse way. Amy was so confused right now the griffin was going to kill her so she though it was and now it was purring and rubbing its head on her face. The black griffin stopped what it was doing and looked at Amy. Amy looked at the black griffin very carefully and saw its left wing. It was badly injured,. Its wing looked really infective and ready to fall off. "You poor thing. Your wing is badly injured and ready to fall off soon," said Amy with a sad tone in her voice. Getting up from where she was and trying to touch the griffin's broken wing with her right hand, when the griffin started to growl at her. Taking her back and looking at the black griffin. Knowing now the griffin didn't want anyone touching its wing.

Amy looked at the black griffin then the hole cove area. She saw path way to get out of the cove. Amy started to walk to the path way when the griffin started to follow her. Looking in the corner of her eye she saw the griffin was following her. "No you can come with me. You need to stay here OK," Amy telling the black griffin to stay. `OK this is stupid. I'm talking to a mythical creature. It won't even know what I'm talking about,` though Amy. The griffin looked at Amy very curious and was now laying on all four of its legs. Amy looked at the griffin confused. `OK, maybe it does know what I'm said after all` though Amy. Continuing up the path way, Amy looked back at the black griffin who was watching Amy leave. Amy didn't want to stay to long. If not her cousin Rod'O will get mad. Looking back one last time and see the griffin there, made Amy feel bad for its injured wing. "Bye, I might be back again," Amy tell the griffin she will return again soon.
